Mogogo Tech

Mogogo's business model and philosophy has always been to take the latest technologies and use those to create a more complete, hands-on user experience. With our Augmented Reality concept, we have taken this to a whole new level, by enabling our customers to see and experience our products in a vivid, augmented way. Providing an enriched and powerful way to view our products first-hand is just another way for us to create the perfect experience for our users.

Mogogo Materials

High Density Bamboo Panels

Mogogo's high-density panels consist of multiple layers of fine bamboo. Using a 2,000 ton press we are able to create a product that is 100% harder than most wood. Once pressed, the bamboo takes on the appearance of oak or walnut with a modern sustainable style.

Brushed Stainless Steel

Brushed stainless steel gives metals a distinct look and a finish that does not rust or stain.

Woven Vinyl

Woven vinyl fabrics are formed by an intricate process of weaving two sets of extruded PVC fibers creating a durable and innovative way to easily enclose each level of the table. The fabrics appear in a variety of colors.

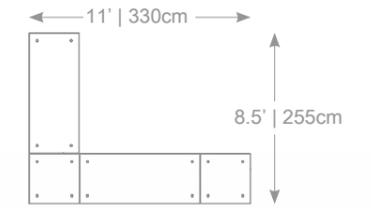

Augmented Reality

Sustainability

Mogogo products provide environmental and economic benefits while protecting the environment over their whole life cycle. From the extraction of raw materials until the final disposal and by using ecological bamboo to minimize cargo space, we do our best to oversee the whole life cycle of our products.

Our Story

Mogogo was born out of a passion for cooking and design. After 20 years in the events field, a Le Cordon Blue chef and an industrial designer teamed up to create something no one else in the industry had: buffet stations & banquet furniture that combine the very best of both design and functionality. With this combination, the team realized that they could solve the challenges of chefs and F&B professionals everywhere. This collaboration between Chef Moti Ben-Aharon and Designer Yariv Kadosh began in 2009. The pair decided to name their brand mogogo, based on a type of communal oven used in northeast Africa. This oven symbolizes the ancient rituals of communal eating – something that is still very much at the core of our society for every important occasion.

Today, mogogo is led by designers and chefs that understand the importance of design and a great user experience. We identify the challenges of our customers and make it our personal mission to provide the highest quality products as a solution to their needs. At the end of the day, our ultimate goal is to create a magnificent and a truly exceptional experience and to do so in a generous way.

In the North American markets, mogogo teamed up with Bauscher Hepp, Inc. in order to perform better and to provide a full range of solutions. Bauscher Hepp, Inc. distributes the leading brands of commercial tabletop and buffet products, including: Bauscher, Hepp, Luigi Bormioli, Tafelstern, WMF, mogogo, and Duralex. These brands are an ideal match through their category expertise and European roots. They have a long history of cooperation in the global market, and this natural union allows for a comprehensive tabletop solution. Offering the highest quality products available to the commercial market and providing excellent service is a point of distinction for Bauscher Hepp, Inc. As a team, we are able to better serve the USA market. As Aristotle wrote, "The whole is greater than the sum of its parts."
